VA. MOTOR INDUSTRY TO CELEBRATE NATIONAL MOTEL WEEK

Motels and motor courts throughout Virginia are ready to celebrate the first National Motel Week, May 2-8. The Virginia Motor Court Association, through its members and local chapters are sponsoring the event, S. Cooper Dawson, Jr., of Alexandria, president of the association, said today.

Motel operators from all sections of the state have been pretty-ing up lawns and rooms, planning open houses, putting up signs and decorative material, making speeches and generally attracting as much attention as they can to motels for this period.

State Chairmen for the observance are: Mrs. W. A. Ingram, of Roanoke and W. H. Walker, of Norfolk, who are directing the campaign over the state to point with pride to the amazing growth and public acceptance of the industry in less than half a century.

Virginia boasts slightly over 1,150 motor courts with in excess of 15,500 rental units scattered along all principal highways and in resort areas. A large majority of the courts are family owned and operated but many of the new ones are of the deluxe variety boasting up to 125 rooms with more being planned or built with 200 or more units.

State Health Department officials that keep a close tab on the development, through its Tourist Establishment Inspection system, estimate that the annual revenue from the rental of Virginia's motor court units exceeds $22,000,000 a year. New courts have been built at the rate of about 150 a year for the past two years. About 50 courts have been closed each year during the same period because they could not meet the minimum health standards. This expansion has added about 20% to the facilities since the middle of 1953.

New construction during the past two years is well over $20,000,000 with another $7,500,000 going for renovation of existing courts and furnishings.

The early-American highway inns, which went out of existence when our first roads — private turnpikes —gave way to wagon trails and then public roads, has come back as the modern motel Today, motels offer this nation on wheels small town friendliness with big city accomodations — the secret of the motel businesses' phenomenal growth in recent years.

This first industry-wide observance will mark the 42nd anniversary of the first "motel." In 1913, a Douglas, Arizona, ex-mine operator prettied up six tiny unused mining cottages to rent them out to passing tourists. That was the beginning of the present-day motel business, though a few years later an old mission in San Luis Obispo, California, was converted into an inn and motor-hotel was shortened to motel, the first time it was so used.

There are now more than 52,000 motels across the country, with half of that number built since World War II. The average motel today costs between $5,000 to $8,000 a unit, with more and more units per motel plus a greater tendency toward such luxuries as television, air conditioning, swimming pools, patios, playgrounds, restaurants, and lounges.

TO OPEN NEW OVERLOOKS ON SKYLINE DRIVE

Luray, Va.- Skyline Drive travelers in the future will see many more of the hidden wonders of Virginia's Shenandoah National Park.

Park Superintendent, Guy D. Edwards, said plans are being made to construct parking areas at strategic points along the famed Drive to make such attractions as sparkling mountain waterfalls and beautiful forests convenient to tourists.

More than 1,600,000 persons came to the Skyline Drive last year. Thrilled with the breath-taking panoramas and colorful mountain foliage visible from the drive, many missed scores of other Park attractions.

Edwards said the pain under way now is designed to get more visitors out of their automobiles to enjoy the additional attractions in the 300-square-mile Park atop the Blue Ridge Mountains of Virginia.

The first project in the plan, he said, will be a parking area near Big Meadows Lodge that will reduce the hike to Dark Hollow Falls from about 2.5 miles to .7 of a mile.

When completed, possibly this year, the new parking area will bring the Falls closer to the traveling public than any of the Park's numerous cascades have ever been, the superintendent said.

The Dark Hollow Falls trail starts at Big Meadows Lodge, one of the two resort areas in the Park, and crosses the Drive near a U-shaped curve in the Drive. Edwards said the Drive will be straightened and the area encompassed by the present curve will be made into a parking area. This will eliminate the present hike from the Lodge to the Drive.

Dark Hollow Falls trail leads to a series of spectacular cascades formed by a splashing, tumbling branch of the Rose River. Nearby are remains of the Gordonsville-New Market Turnpike, an important Civil War route.

There are 70 parking overlooks on the Drive now, specially constructed to take advantage of the views available from the lofty Park. The parking areas for hikers will be in addition to these overlooks.

Spring colors are creeping up the slopes of the Blue Ridge. Hundreds of thousands of Americans come to the Park during late April and May to see the display of spring foliage. Big Meadows Lodge, a modern hotel in the Park, opened early this month and Skyland, a resort center complete with cabins and recreational facilities, will open for the season May 20.
